September 18 Program:

Digital Work Flo by Steve Wronker

Everyone gets nervous when they hear the phrase 'digital workflow'. It is just a fancy new term to describe the steps taken to produce and print an image. This program will describe what I do once I have taken a series of photographs; from getting the photos on my computer to the final print. Although I use the latest Photoshop version (CS3), most of the steps can be achieved with most all other image editing software. (Although I highly recommend Photoshop Elements 5 for under $100). The steps I use on my computer are easy to understand and I use most all of these steps on EVERY print that you see in our monthly competitions. I will also discuss some of the filters I use for my image artistry images. My workflow may differ from other photographers' workflow, but this is the way I approach my photography.

Refreshments:

Sue Harsanyi will be looking for volunteers to provide drinks and snacks for our meetings. Please consider bringing something. She will have a sign up sheet at our first meeting.

Special Category:

Our Special category for October is TOYS. This should bring some interesting images to our meeting.

I can think of children's toys but also adult toys as in a favorite vehicle. Use your imagination.

Future Categories:
Nov. Sports
Dec. Backyard Birds
Jan. Yellow
